

Samaritan Dinner Set Next Week

The Samaritan Program in Dansville is a low-interest, revolving loan fund for those seeking rehabilitation for chemical dependency.

Financial support for the program carried out by the Dansville Presbyterian Church will come from the annual Samaritan Dinner set Tuesday evening in the church.

Guest speaker will be John Walsh of Rochester. Walsh has been in the field of chemical dependency since 1980 and is a certified alcoholism counselor. He is director of the Rochester office of the Caron Foundation which operates Chit Chat Treatment Services, one of the nation's leading chemical dependency treatment centers.

Entertainment during the dinner program will be provided by 11-year-old Natalie Pettit of Dansville, a voice student of Gloria McMaster Juhn. Miss Pettit already has a long list of performing accomplishments. She had a dual role in the production of "A Christmas Carol" at GEVA Theater in Rochester and has had leading roles in musical stage shows in Dansville. She most recently earned the highest rating of "outstanding" from the State School Music Association for solo performance.

Natalie also studies dance at the Ehlers at the Dansville Dance Academy and takes piano lessons. She is a sixth grade student at Dansville Elementary School.

Presidential Classroom has announced the selection of Michael Wamp and Marcel Kunnen of Dansville to attend a program of activities in Washington, D.C. Mar. 5-12.

Presidential Classroom, which is sanctioned by the National Association of Secondary Principals, is a program which offers about 400 high school juniors and seniors nationwide and around the world, a first hand look at the federal government in action. Wamp, a senior, is the son of Thomas and Joan Wamp of Ossian, and has been very active both as a student and an athlete at Dansville Senior High School. He is planning to attend either Syracuse University or the University of Rochester after graduation.

UP OR DOWN?

Where are interest rates headed from here? My thought is down. If this is correct, bond prices will go up, CD rates will edge down. What to do? Now might be a good time to consider looking in current rates such as...

1. Our Mutual Funds yielding from 7.65% to 11.4%.
2. Tax Deferred Annuities yielding 7.5% to 8.75%.
3. Guaranteed Single Premium Whole Life with TAX FREE returns yielding 5.7% to 9% and increasing each year.

If you would like any additional information, please call me at 335-3831. Thanks, Ray. P.S. I didn't realize my column was missed by so many. Thanks for your interest.
